

Abraham Lincoln

Reading with Comprehension Questions
3rd Grade +

I have always loved reading about Abraham Lincoln. It all started in the third grade when I had to do a report on a famous person. I chose to read and write about our 16th president Abraham Lincoln. In the many years that followed I have read countless books on President Lincoln. I decided to write about him once again because he was an overcomer. He had many obstacles and tragedies in his life but he persevered through them. Also, he valued education and he loved to read. President Lincoln should be an inspiration to us all.

Abraham Lincoln was born on February 12, 1809. His parents lived in a very small and simple log cabin in the state of Kentucky. His father was a farmer and the family owned very little. Neither his father nor his mother was educated, although both could write their name. Lincoln's life is both impressive and noteworthy. He started life with simple beginnings. He was a shopkeeper who rose to hold the highest office in our nation, that of President of the United States. He governed the country through a civil war, a time so divided that we were fighting against our own neighbors and fellow citizens. Lincoln stood up for the rights of all people to be free. He signed the Emancipation Proclamation, which freed the slaves. Many people may not realize that Abraham Lincoln is the president that officially made Thanksgiving a national holiday.

Abraham Lincoln was a great man who accomplished many things. He persevered through difficult times and always fought for what he believed in. As you continue to learn and apply what you have already know keep in mind what Abraham Lincoln said about learning and life. Read the following quotes.

“My best friend is a person who will give me a book I have not read.”

“Give me six hours to chop down a tree and I will spend the first four sharpening the axe.”

“I do the very best I know how- the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end.”

“I will prepare and someday my chance will come”

“The best way to predict your future is to create it”

“Be sure you put your feet in the right place, and then stand firm”
